ICYMI: Georgia's New Paper-Ballot Voting System Inspires Confidence Ahead of 2020 Presidential Primary

Savannah Morning News: "The new system is foolproof in every sense of the word.

Two Savannah Morning News staffers, including editorial board member Adam Van Brimmer, demoed the system during a recent conference for local and state elections officials staged at the Savannah Marriott Riverfront.

The new system was piloted in a handful of Georgia counties during the November municipal elections. The error rate was 0.164%. A month later, in runoff elections in two of those pilot counties, the machines performed flawlessly, with zero errors.

An engineer by trade, Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger called the results 'tremendous.'

So take heart, Georgia voters, and know there's nothing to fear about navigating the new voting system."
